She moved that a committee on press be appointed to censor all reports of what the teachers did. The motion carried, and Miss Frances Qualtrough, Miss May Kimbail and Charles H. Miles were appointed. The committee has not yet served notice on the newspapers as to the procedure, and so this report is untrammeled, fruthful and accurate. In the future, however, the trembling reporters may be forced to hand in their "copy" to the august committee to have it marked "90" or "25," or more likely "zero," with the awful possibility hanging over them that they may be "flunked" if they do not mind the teacher better.

On motion of A. O. Garrett it was desided that the executive committee should onfer with the principals today on plans or keeping the schools open. Miss Qualrough of the committee asked for some effinite expression of the stand of the eachers' body.

Before the problem of keeping the schools open was discussed the first ammual election of officers was held. The report of the nominating committee was read by the secretary—that mysterious report which the members had guarded so carefully, even from the other teachers. Mrs. E. E. Shepard had refused to allow her name to go before the association for any office, and so the name of Miss Jessie Drew of the Lowell school was presented instead. Mrs. K. B. Parsons of the Lowell school was the other candidate named by the committee.

Miss Kate McKenzie nominated Miss Prances Qualtrough of the East Side High school. Miss Sallie L. Cox nominated Mrs. Martha B. Jennings of the West Side High school, but Mrs. Jennings declined to become a candidate. The vote stood: Mrs. Parsons, 33; Miss Qualtrough, 46: Miss Drew. 18. Mrs. Parsons was therefore declared elected president.

The crowds who gather afternoon and evening at the jewelry company still continue to get rare bargains in the auction sale. Standard goods in silver plated tea sets are going far below cost, while sterling silver is bringing about cost. Watches and diamonds have been sold at not more than 65 cents on the dollar. The attendance in the afternoon is largely composed of ladies, and special attention is given to them.

Bessie Knecht, the girl who has been asleep for forty-eight days, temporarily recovered consciousness yesterday and was able to say "Mamma." This is the first time the patient has uttered a sound since the strange sleep came upon her. Wednesday she showed some signs of Wednesday she showed some signs of improvement, and for the first time since her illness gave indications that she knew what was going on about her. She rejected some food that the nurse sought to give her. Yesterday morning, after she had been given a bath and exercised a little by the nurse, she opened her eyes. Her mother sat by the bed, and the girl spoke the word "Mamma." She looked at her mother with evident recognition, then lay over on the bed and dropped back into her slumber.

the attending physicians believe that the girl is now on the road to recovery, and expect that she will be herself again in a short time. Each morning she is given a little exercise, and this, it is believed, is strengthening her body. She seems to take her food with more relish, and every indication is of improvement.

FIRE LOSS IS SETTLED.

Insurers to Pay Salt Lake Hardware Company $115,043.29.

The dispute over the adjustment of losses sustained by the Salt Lake Hardware company in the recent Atlas block fire was settled yesterday. By comprofire was settled yesterday. By compromise the company was allowed $115,042.29. They claimed $13,500, and the insurance companies offered $80,000 in settlement. For some time past there has been a contest over the amount that the hardware people should receive. They claimed a total loss, but the insurance companies were not willing to grant that amount. The compromise, it will be seen, was to the benefit of the fire sufferers. The insurance on the fixtures of the store was $3,000 and the amount allowed was $2,58,25. The insurance was held by about twenty-seven different companies.

The past year was an unlucky one for the insurance men, in this state. They had to pay out on losses $300,000. This is 3½ per cent more than the premiums, it is claimed.
